Adobe Illustrator is a great tool for designing brochures. I've used it so many times myself. To keep myself in the preparation time, I've decided to prepare a blank template to keep on hand so I can use it whenever necessary. Free Tri Fold Brochure template illustrator Here is a preview of how the free three times brochure template illustrator looks... Click to enlarge As you can see, this is just a blank template divided into 3 panels. The red border around the outer edge of the document represents a trimming clipping. Everything outside the red line will be cropped after printing, so make sure your design expands into the room and all the important content stays on that border. Inner red borders reflect segmentation between three panels and are a more correct reference point for your convenience than for a rule. You can turn guide visibility on or off by using the Layers menu. You will notice manuals on the same layer. This document is one half of the three times the brochure, so you need to create two separate designs - one on the back and one on the front - and upload them separately. Here is an example of the design I created for the previous post where I shared a template for Inkscape users... This is the inner part of the brochure. And here's the design outside of the brochure Here's how the brochure looks when both sides are combined and printed... Brochure Sizes Document Is Sized According to VistaPrint's 8.5 11 three times the brochure specifications with trimming, safe area, and DPI taken into account. I've even set the document in color mode cmyk so you can be sure that this template is print ready as can be. Just add your design and you're off to the races. If you are using a print service other than VistaPrint, then you may need to customize the document according to their specifications. You can download a copy of the free three-times brochure template illustrator here: Brochure-Template.zip Usage rights I'm releasing this document to the public domain, meaning you can use it however you want. Attribution is always appreciated, but in no way necessary. Enjoy! 150+ Logo Templates Need a professional logo, but have a limited budget?
